“Experience” Connection Between Science and God

Searching for the Caravan: A Reconciliation with Love, Science and Divinity is not just a story. It’s an experience. This disarmingly honest, inspiring spiritual memoir of Germaine Avila's departure from her Christian upbringing on a farm in Field of Dreams, Iowa, and her courageous journey back to redemption is an odyssey like none other. Germaine traverses countries, cultures, religions, and otherworldly phenomena before clarifying her own truth, and chronicles her downward spiral from God and stunning near death experience before reconciling the complex and confusing experiences that pervaded her life.

Germaine explains, "Having spent years in laboratories and research institutions, I followed a path that revered science instead of God and arrogantly abandoned the spiritual richness I had embraced since childhood." Ironically, Germaine used metaphysical sciences, specifically Feng Shui, BaZi (Chinese astrology), and I-Ching, to dissect the mystifying events that shaped her life, and in the process, she came to understand the connection between science and God.

Germaine lived in France and Switzerland as a single professional woman before her husband's career took the couple and their two daughters to Pakistan, the Philippines, Bangladesh, Thailand, and Indonesia. While science helped Germaine comprehend her challenging path, love held her together as she confronted the depths of darkness and heights of illumination. With the help of metaphysical insights, Germaine regained her strength after several bouts with illness and deepened her awareness of God and her connection to family, friends, animals, and every aspect of creation. Germaine’s story is replete with charm, intrigue, wisdom, maturity, understanding, and knowledge. Her courageous tale radiates warmth and compassion and leaves the reader filled with hope, empowered to achieve happiness, love, and balance.

This extraordinary story is brilliantly crafted and expertly told. While the book deals with complex broad themes, it does so in an entertaining, easy-to-read style.

“I’m happy to say that ‘a reconciliation with love, science and divinity’ is indeed possible as Germaine proves. This is a story of self-discovery, personal growth and understanding, written by a woman who has walked many paths in life, embraced both science and God, and fulfilled many roles. Germaine demonstrates her most profound lesson: that science and faith aren’t mutually exclusive.” ~ Joey Yap, founder, Mastery Academy of Chinese Metaphysics, best selling author, and world renowned metaphysics master

Author: After seventeen years of living overseas, Germaine currently lives in the Washington, DC area where she lectures on the benefits of using Feng Shui and BaZi (Chinese astrology) as tools to help bring balance and energy into our lives and how we are connected to one another. She combines her knowledge of metaphysical sciences with her real estate practice and daily life, and has begun penning her next volume.
